MAY THROW LIGHT ON SUIT CASE MYSTERY

Sister of Missing Woman Will Try to Identify Body

BOSTON, Sept. 29.-Mies Nathan, daughter of Mrs. Louis Nathan of Baltimore, came here today and requested the police to show her the torso of the woman which was found in a dress suit case near the Winthrop Yacht club on Thurs-day of last week. She will see the body

Possible Bearing on Mystery.

Possible Bearing on Mystery.

The coming of Miss Nathan has a possible bearing on the Winthrop mystery, although the police do not attach great importance to it. Miss Nathan is a sister of Mrs. Maurice Schapiro, who has been missing for nearly three weeks. Mrs. Schapiro is the wife of a former West End docter, who has also been missing for some time. In the search for clues that might lead to a solution of the case, the attention of the police was called to the missing doctor and his wife, and an investigation was instituted and apparently concluded to the satisfaction of the officers.

Identification is Doubtful

Identification Is Doubtful.

It was given out that the authorities knew the whereabouts of Mrs. Schapiro and it was understood that such information had been conveyed to Mrs. Nathan. Miss Nathan now asserts that she does not know where her sister is, that the police must have been misinformed and that she has come to look for her. Miss Nathan will attempt to identify the torso tomorrow, but as there are no marks or blemishes upon it, identification is doubtful.

Find Another Suit Case.

Find Another Suit Case.

Tonight two fishmongers on T wharf, this city, Michael Sullivan and Robert Campbell, found a dress suit case in the water close to the piling. They grappled for it with boat hooks and brought to the surface the upper pertino of the case. Their attempt to recover the other part of the case was not successful. From the part secured it would appear that the dress suit case was comparatively new and of inexpensive quality. The police theory is that two suit cases were employed in the disposal of the hody, but the officers are not inclined to connect the suit case found tonight with the Winthrop tragedy.

AMUSEMENTS

SALT LAKE THEATRE—"The Chaperons," a musical comedy by Isidore Witmark and Frederic Rankin.

"The Chapterns" wears well. Good music and good comedy and good transgement have enabled it to hold public favor. As presented last night it had much of its old merit, and some new features, including, the song. "The Whole Damm Family." Its half-dozen funny geople were clever, though they chould remember that they are now a long ways from New York, and not be surprised when feectious allusions to affaits in that city do not excite laughter. They found last night's audience readily responsive to the general wit, however, and appreciative of their amusing methods. The girls of the chorus were agile and graceful.

The audience was of good size, and the house would doubtless have been filled, but for the unpleasantness of the weather. A performance will be given this afterneon, and the closing one tonight.

"Woman Against Woman" will be played at the Grand this afterneon and tonight.

"Why Women Sin" will be presented Sunday evening.

"The Kentucky Belles," with a boxing exhibition by Jimmy Britt, will open an engagement of a week at the Lyric this afternoon. This abow is under the same management as "The Brigadlers."

Daughters of the Confederacy, several hundred of them, are expected to arrive here shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, to spend the day as guests of the local chapter, and proceed on their journey to San Francisco tonight.

The programme of entertainment will depend much upon the wishes of the visiters, but a trip to the lake, a ride about the city and a recital at the Tabernacie have been suggested. The chief feature of the day will be a reception at the Commercial club this evening at 8 o'clock. It will be entirely informal, the local chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy acting as the reception committee, and all who are interested in meeting the distinguished Southern women who are to be the city's guests for the day are cerdially invited to attend.

BEER AND SANDWICHES FOR FOUR; BILL IS $8.50

Mayor Lays Siege to Cashier's Desk and Waiter Goes to Bridewell.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 .- Like "Uncle Reuben" of ancient fame and "Chuck" Connors, the sage of the Bowery in Gotham. our own Mayor Dunne has fallen a vic tim to the wiles of the "bunco man." True, the joyous confidence man has started to serve a $75 sentence in the bridewell, but what of that? For he first won a halo in confidence circles by securing $10 bill from the sagacious apostle of municipal ownership, and this is how:

Ordered Wet Goods Ordered Wet Goods.

It all came about because the Mayor wanted something to wash the dust of a passing corporation-owned car from his throat. With Mrs. Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Doyle and Charles A. Plamondon, the executive was returning from a funeral. The party stopped at the Bismarck garden and ordered sandwiches and 'wet goods.' There were only a few flecks of dampness left in the bottles when a dapper young man in a white jacket dropped a check on the table.

Mr. Corboy reached for it. He gasped, but was 'gaine.' He passed a 310 bill to the waiter to pay the alleged bill of $5.50, when the Mayor's hospitality came to the rescue.

Is the Mayor's Treat. "It's my treat." Insisted the Mayor.
"Very well," said Mr Corboy cheerily.
The Mayor glanced at the bill. Great beads of perspiration adorned his dome of thought. His judicial eye bulged as he eyed the empty glasses and the sandwich crumba. The waiter read the signs aright and made off with the 510 bill.
"Out-out-outrageous?" exclaimed the Mayor. "Eight dollars and a half for beer and sandwiches for four! Not much! I'll see the boss."

Cashier Digs Up. The Mayor laid siege to the cashier's desk. The cashier made a vallant and ingenious defense. The father of the "contract plan" was implacable. He made known his identity. The cashier smiled nervously and due out a $19 bill.

Then another watter presented a check for $3.30. The Mayor took out his official fountain pen and figured on the back of an envelope.

"Correct" be announced to the cashier.

Detectives Pursue Waiter. Fifteen minutes later detectives from the Town Hall station were scouring the district for the nimble and clusive "wait-er." Two hours later they put him in ouble irons.

The waiter gave his name as Charles Resokopfs. He formerly was a waiter at the Bismarck garden, but had been discharged. On the occasion of the Mayor's yisit he obtained a waiter's Jacket and presented a bill of his own making for the sole purpose of getting the $10.

The Mayor testified to his dealings with Resokopfs and the police tucked him safely away in the bridewell_to serve out a fine of $75.

The Mayor said he believed certain gardens in Chicago were lax as to keeping track of their waiters. He thought the bogus waiter swindle was practiced often.

SMITH COLLEGE MAY MOVE

Library Fine Imposed on Girls Is Resented. NORTHAMPTON, Mass. Sept. 29.—The action of the trustees of the Forbes ilbrary in imposing on Smith college girls a charge of 55 per year for library privileges has been followed by animations that the educational institution may seek a new home.

that the educational institution may seek a new home.

President L. Clarke Seelye of the college said yesterday that the offer of $1,000,000 from a Jollet, lib., capitalist to move the college to Illinois was bona fide. The Jollet bidder gave as his motive the desire to have his daughters receive higher education without the necessity of leaving home.

The Forces library trustees say they did not decide upon a $5 fee for Smith young women until the trustees of the college refused to assist in the maintenance of the library.

The college authorities aver that the college cannot afford to contribute to the library.

Store Patrons.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.-George H. Moore, known to the police under three different names, was arrested yesterday on a charge of larceny and obtaining money under false pretenses. The scheme adopt-ed by him, the police declare, is one of the most ingenious used in the past an-nals.

Moore would obtain employment in one of the department stores and in that way learn the names of the patrons of the store who had charge accounts and the amount of goods usually bought by them during the month. He would call at their homes and state that he had come to collect a bill that had been past due. He succeeded in mulcting many patrons out of hundreds of dollars.

BOAT A GAMBLING JOINT Owners of City of Traverse Are Indicted.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29—True bills were returned by the grand jury yesterday against the promoters and owners of the City of Traverse gambling boat, charging them with keeping a common gambling-house and conspiracy to do an illegal act. Some of the defendants must face two indictments for keeping a common gambling-house and two indictments for conspiracy. Fourteen defendants were named in the bills. ### TAILORS BOUND TO FORCE CORSETS ON MEN Creations in Bejeweled Waist coats and Braided Trousers Are Latest.

CHICAGO, Sept 29.-Now comes the CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Now comes the tailors' convention. The dressmakers' convention with its exhibition of form making on living models has passed into history. At the Wellington hotel tomorrow evening the Beau Brummels of Chicago will have the opportunity to inspect "creations" of the fine Art (with a capital A) of tailoring, which have been gathered from all parts of the country for the convention of the Merchant Tailors' Protective association.

Full dress walstcoats, with buttons made of precious stones, coracted overcoats, and braided trousers are a few of the styles which will go to make up the "proper" man for next winter.

Doomed to Wear Corsets.

Doomed to Wear Corsets. It is more than probable that Master Fashion will send forth an edict from the convention tomorrow that Man adopt the corset as part of his apparol. Since the fressmakers took it upon themselves recently to decide that men should wear corsets, discussion of the subject has been going on among the molders of the male figure.

Suspenders Must Go. Suspenders Must Go.

With the introduction of the corset for men, it is predicted that suspenders will be abolished from male attire. Suspenders have prevented trousers from hanging correctly, declars the tailors. With a corset, trousers could be adjusted to perfection at the waist line. The flare at the bottom of the corset would make it impossible for the trousers to slip from place, it is said.

"Corsets have undoubtedly given women of ill-shapen figures forms most plensing to the eye," said a Chicago tailor yesterday. "There is no reason why the the corset cannot be used to the same effect for men."

Jewels and Braid.

Jewels and Braid. The proper thing to wear with a full dress coat next year will be a waistcoat with beleweled buttons. Fancy waist-coats, with buttons worth many times more than the garment they adorn, will be on exhibition. Diamonds, rubles, emeralds and other gens will be used. Full dress trousers will have a broad band of black braid running down the outside. The pockets and lapels of coats, too, will be braided.

he was on his way home. He stopped at Sac-ramento, where he was murdered.
